Franklin D. Roosevelt Office Conversation. We have reason to believe that this conversation is a continuation of the conversation with A. Philip Randolph, the leader of a Sleeping Car Conductor Union. Most of the recording consists of Roosevelt and Frank Knox discussing the issue of African-Americans in the Navy. We believe Randolph can be heard briefly during the discussion.

Mother Jones Radio 05-05-19: Why Mainstream Coverage of Global Warming Has Failed

Topics Mother Jones, Radio, Interview, Global warming, Oil, whistleblower

In the premiere broadcast, Mother Jones Radio exposes junk scientists and pseudo-journalists who say global warming is a hoax - and who get millions of dollars from ExxonMobil. Investigative journalist Ross Gelbspan discusses why mainstream media coverage of global warming has failed. Chris Mooney, author of "The Republican War on Science," tells us how ExxonMobil is one of the last - and loudest - holdouts in the campaign to deny the dangers of global warming.

This show consists entirely of songs sung by women. It began as a challenge to myself, to see if it was possible to create a show featuring Country songs sung by women, then El Wayno Loco's head exploded (again) and it became far more than that. All in all, it worked out rather well in this DJ's humble opinion. Have a listen and see if you agree!

This program initially made available 2 July 2016
